

HOOVER ERAS TELLS ONLY HE CAN SAVE NATION AS IN '64

Specialist, Th. Nov. 4 (AP)—Here, where stands the shrine of Lincoln, President Hoover declared this afternoon that his own reelection is as essential to the preservation of the Union as was the Great Emancipator's in 1864.

Hoover Stamped Seen by Sanders

Chicago, Nov. 4 (AP)—Chairman Everett Sanders of the Republican national committee said today that reports from the West and Northwest indicated that the political trend in President Hoover in the great agricultural sections has become a Hoover stampede.

With this analysis, Mr. Hoover suggested that the country today that lay before it in that momentous campaign of nearly three-quarters of a century ago. The choice that the American people made in 1864 was made on November 8. The choice they are called to make in 1932 will be made on November 8. Mr. Hoover citizens, can we doubt what the choice will be?

Hoover said, and on August 23, Lincoln prepared the famous "second inaugural address."

HE DRAWS PARALLEL: "The turn of the tide of the Civil War was made on Gettysburg. The turn in the tide of this crisis was made in the last winter, and just as after Gettysburg, long months of continual battle were required to bring about the saving of the Union, in the same manner we must continue the fight today to preserve our property and to preserve the social and political principles which Abraham Lincoln stood for."

With these solemn words the executive made his strongest bid for the campaign for reelection. He spoke from the same armory where two weeks ago his Democratic opponent, Franklin D. Roosevelt, addressed a packed hall, and he played the New York governor's bid for reelection in no uncertain terms.

He recalled how the Battle of Gettysburg, but here were Grant marched on Richmond, but still, with the appearance of the Daubing Confederate general, Jubal Early, before Washington, a historical picture seemed fearful that the capital would fall. A wave of demoralization swept over the country in the summer of 1863. Mr.

INFLUENCE IN HIGH CIRCLES WRECKED

Back Bay Man Who Escaped Kidnaping and Other Big Shots Are in Panic

A Boston man, one of the "big shots" of the liquor trade in this section, faces arrest in spite of all his influence, it was learned today, as a result of the seizure of the $100,000 rum cruiser America in Buzzards Bay, with its $100,000 cargo.

Federal authorities believe they have crippled the man's organization and his finances, thereby wrecking his power in the underworld and his influence in high circles.

Identification of one of the rumrunners seized with the America as Bill Rogell, former Red Sox infielder and now with the Detroit Tigers, was only one of a number of startling developments that are due in this case, officials said.

LEADER ESCAPES KIDNAPING
Rogell, who is free on $1000 bail after arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Jenney, has yet to reveal how he became associated with the rum-running gang. All the baseball world, as well as official circles, await his story.

To baseball and international complications arising out of the seizure of the British vessel was added another today.

U. S. Commissioner George E. Lilly of New Bedford was revealed as defendant in the transfer of the 26 arrested men to Boston for arraignment. The alleged offense was committed in his jurisdiction and more than $100 in fees is involved, as he is paid on a commission basis. Lilly may make a complaint to Federal Judge Morton.

The Boston rum-running leader who is wanted for arrest is a man who was nearly kidnapped recently by the kidnaping "mob" that preyed on other bootleggers in this section. The kidnapers got the wrong man.

He has headquarters in a Back Bay hotel and for years has enjoyed the friendship of high officials. On Cape Cod he has had times had $5000 cases of liquor cached, ready to be drawn upon for the retail trade.

EARLIER SEIZURES
Seizure of the America with liquor destined for his use came about, it was learned today, as a result of a seizure of a day earlier of Cape Cod of three smaller rum-boats.

Several newcomers in the liquor racket were arrested and held in the wake of the seizure of the British rum ship, America, by federal men led by Commander Roy Patch of the Woods Hole Coast Guard station and Customs Inspector William J. Fitzgerald of New Bedford.

Rogell was not photographed or fingerprinted when arrested.

WIFE DIVORCES PROWLER AGAIN KNIFE HURLER ELUDES POLICE

Because her husband George A. Phillips, threw a knife at her when she awakened him on his sister according to her testimony, Mrs. Blanche E. Phillips of Spring St., East Boston, won an uncontested divorce in Suffolk court.

The wife had Phillips arrested in April when he beat her after she asked him for money for shoes for their two children. She said he threw her into the ice chest on another occasion, she testified, cutting her head.

She was married in July, 1921. Mrs. Phillips was awarded a divorce, custody of the children and $10 a week.

PIRATES UP FOR AUTO THEFTS

Two Quincy youths, already serving a one month sentence for larceny of boats and stealing property from other boats along Quincy wharves, were brought to Quincy court today on two charges of larceny of automobiles. They were held in $5000 each for the grand jury.

They are Donald Partridge, 21, of Park ave., and Robert Finch, 19, of Gannett st., both of Quincy. They, together with Paul Partridge of Park ave., Quincy, who is on charge of larceny of boats, will be arraigned in Municipal court here tomorrow.

Other charges of larceny will be placed against them. The trio, police believe, is responsible for the thefts of boats and property over a period of a year, valued at several thousand dollars. Last valued at $3500 has already been recovered.

TOWN TO RULE ON VOTE OF 'PAUPERS'

Seabrook Board Split Over Drive to Disfranchise Aid Recipients

By ARTHUR J. QUINN
Boston Evening American Staff Correspondent

Seabrook, N. H., Nov. 4.—Will the poor of this town be allowed to vote in national and state elections on next Tuesday?

This all important question, a chief topic of discussion not only here but in every town in the state will be decided for the citizens of Seabrook at a special meeting of the town board of selectmen and the overseers of the poor Wednesday. The meeting has been called to determine whether or not the law can be found in the law that deprives a person receiving aid from the county or town aid the right to take part in any election. Under the laws of New Hampshire such persons are classed as "paupers" regardless of what their previous financial status might have been or the conditions which forced them to apply for and obtain financial aid.

At the present time the residents of Seabrook appear to be divided in their opinion as to the propriety of an election day because of their present straitened circumstances over which they had no control. Others are of the opinion that the law should be enforced to the letter.

Among the town officials who are in favor of the so-called paupers casting their ballot are Wallace L. Kendall, chairman of the selectmen, Jere L. Smith, town clerk, Tracy Dow, chairman of the overseers of the poor and Samuel Bagley, an overseer of the poor.

Leonard Brockman, chairman of the last checkers, frankly admitted that he would oppose the move to allow those receiving aid to vote. He said he had always

CONDE NAST AND WIFE DIVORCED

By CHOLLY KNICKERBOCKER
Universal Service Society Editor
New York, Nov. 4.—And now it can be told—the Conde Nasts have been divorced.
For almost a year society listened attentively to reports that had the well-known publisher and his second wife at a parting of the marital ways.
The reports always were strenuously denied—and a cloak of mystery was given the details by the spasmodic appearances of the Nasts together in public.
I myself noted them together as recently as the "first night" of the new Earl Carroll musical review.
And yet many "in the know" insist Conde and the former Leslie Foster were divorced at that time.
Without fear of contradiction I can go on record that not only has the divorce been granted—but Mrs. Nast soon will embark for the Old World to become the bride of Rex Benson, a Britisher.

Woman Blames $5000 Blaze to Enemies

Enemies who had threatened to destroy her barn at Adams st. and Granite pl., East Milton, unless she tore it down, were responsible for the structure burning to the ground last night, Mrs. Catherine Pallist today told Milton police and fire officials who are investigating the fire.
Two motor cars and a large cement mixer were also destroyed. Damage is estimated at $5,000. Mrs. Pallist, who lives at 208 Campbell st., Quincy, also made a complaint to the State fire marshal's office. Inspector J. M. Egan was assigned to investigate.

New York, Nov. 4 (INS)—Practically complete reports to Republican and Democratic national managers indicate a very large "irregular" vote—Socialist and Communist—with the Prohibition showing uncertain.

Socialist managers are equally certain that Thomas will come pretty close to the record hung up

SOUTH SOLIDLY IN LINE FOR ROOSEVELT

By COLE E. MORRAN
Universal Service Correspondent

Washington, Nov. 4.—The South will go to the polls next Tuesday as solid and unimpeachable a Gibraltar for the Democratic ticket.

It will be a far different story from that of four years ago, when eight of the 14 states south of the Ohio and Potomac and the Missouri-Kansas line, gave their electoral votes to the Republican candidate.

This solid block of 134 electoral votes from these 14 states will insure the election of Governor Roosevelt, without the aid of the East.

The South again can more than effect the combined vote of all New England, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, and with the addition of Maryland and Delaware on the Democratic side, both of which now look certain for Roosevelt, can offset a Republican victory in Ohio.

With the South and these border states taking care of the East, and with Roosevelt showing dominance throughout the campaign in the Middle and Far West and on the Pacific coast, there seems no sound basis on which to assume that Roosevelt cannot be and will not be elected, and that by a substantial and comfortable electoral majority.

Latest returns from the South, tabulated today, in the nationwide presidential poll of the Boston Evening American in co-operation with all the other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States, settled beyond question any prospect of a last minute Republican turnover anywhere in the South. Every state returned additional, substantial Roosevelt majority in comparison with the number of new ballots received.

West Virginia, which is the only one at any time to show signs of a close race, swung back during the last two weeks to Roosevelt so strongly that it is now definitely certain to go Democratic.

Liquor Cache Found in Secret Room

Brockton, Nov. 4.—Discovery by police that the interior of a store at 14 North Montello st. was five feet narrower than its exterior enabled them to uncover a liquor cache after 18 years of unsuccessful ransacking of the place.

The cache, containing 100 gallons of alcohol in five and ten-gallon cans, was located in a 12x30-foot room behind a concealed door. The store is owned by Mrs. Sakas Ten Brund.

How Nominees Stand In Nation-Wide Poll

Washington, Nov. 4.—The tabulation that follows shows the total vote thus far recorded for President Hoover and Gov. Roosevelt in the nationwide Presidential poll of the Boston Evening American in co-operation with all the other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States.

It also shows the majority each candidate has in each State in which he is leading.

In addition, it gives the gain of each candidate on the latest returns received from each State, as compared with the last preceding report from the State. These State reports are usually a week apart.

The first feature of this table shows the net gain of each candidate in each State where he has improved his position, as compared with the last preceding report from that State.

EUROPEANS PIN HOPES ON U. S. ELECTIONS

(Copyright, 1932, by the Associated Press.) London, Nov. 4.—The European press is taking great interest in the American presidential election campaign, a summary collected by the Associated Press correspondents in the various capitals discloses.

Silence was complete, however, in official quarters, where a "may the best man win" attitude was observed.

While officials declined to comment for publication, the general unofficial European attitude was that, regardless of who goes to the White House on March 4, Europe hopes he will inspire a new spirit of leadership and pull America out of the world out of the depression.

These hopes were summed up as "Cancellation or drastic reduction of World War debts; disarmament if it can be achieved; a successful world economic conference; settlement of the Far Eastern situation; and Russia has a special hope of recognition by the United States."

England, France, Germany and Italy all watch the fate of the prohibition law. They hope for revival in their wine, liquor and beer business, although Italian wine makers take the view liquor may be able to furnish wine sufficient for the country.

REAL CHANCE TO HUNT DEER

Ashville, N. C., Nov. 4 (AP)—An army of hunters will be moved into traditionally inviolate Pisgah national forest game preserve next month to thin out deer that have increased in such numbers that herds are damaging young timber and facing possible starvation.

The closely protected refuge and not known the crack of a hunter's gun, except in rare cases of poaching, for nearly a score of years and some 6000 deer now roam the preserve, concentrating principally in a 12,000-acre tract in the interior.

The Tremont K. C. will live straight victories under their belt, day to take on the strong Peabody Town Team at the Buckley Stadium.

Jimmy Walker, in Seclusion, Called 'Politically Dead'

Copyright, 1932, International News Service, New York, Nov. 4 (INS)—From the glamour of the international spotlight to obscurity—that tells the rather poignant story of what has happened to James J. Walker, former mayor of New York, in the short space of a few weeks.

"Jimmy" Walker today is virtually inaccessible. "The Forgotten Man" of local politics. Not long ago he was everywhere—now a diligent reporter can't even find him.

His retirement from public view, after a career of 23 years, amounted almost to self-exile. Only a rare handful of intimate friends know where he is.

Whether Walker is in such seclusion for the purpose of regaining his health or whether he is brokenhearted over the blow of an unkind fate were questions which puzzled many of his out-time friends and admirers.

Mystery envelops his daily life. Occasionally he is occupying a suite of rooms on the 11th floor of a hotel at 341 St. and Park ave., but rarely can he be found there. Once termed "God's gift to newspaper men," he is now as difficult to contact as J. P. Morgan.

One of Walker's most intimate friends, A. C. Blumenthal, theatrical man and husband of Peggy Pratt, the former Police beauty, occupies rooms one floor above the Walker suite. He wasn't in but was finally reached in Philadelphia by long distance telephone. He hadn't seen Walker for several days but knew "Jimmy" was just resting.

"Jim promised himself two months' rest," said Blumenthal. "He is taking it. He does a little walking, some motor and occasionally goes to my country place near Larchmont. He won't be interviewed."

None of Walker's friends seem able to forecast his future. They don't know his plans. Blumenthal was asked if his offer of $100,000 a year for Walker's legal services still stood and he replied in the affirmative.

Jimmy Walker, in the opinion of a Democrat high in national politics, is "politically" dead. If this is so, the idea that is kept alive by Walker's friends that he may "come back" as a candidate for United States Senator is a forlorn hope.

What is Cross Blending?
an Artist
might explain it this way...
"Let's say you're painting clouds. You've got your primary colors here on the palette. But you haven't the clouds until you blend certain colors into the special tone you want."
"This is very much what happens in making a good cigarette. And I gather that what Chesterfield means by Cross-Blending is what an artist does with colors. Their Domestic and Turkish tobaccos—many varieties of each—are the primary colors. They blend and cross-blend these tobaccos until they get the special tone they want—in other words, the Chesterfield flavor."
"And just as each color you use acts on the others to change and enrich them, so each Chesterfield tobacco partakes of the fine qualities of every other."
"You 'weld' different kinds to get a better kind. That's Cross-Blending!"

TOMORROW'S COLLEGE games have plenty of tradition and color, but for those who want to see football as it should be played Sunday's big league game at Braves Field between the Braves and Stapleton is the big attraction. Big league football has caught on. In a few more years they will not be talking much about the overemphasis of college football. Big league football eventually will dwarf college football as big league baseball has college baseball.

HICKY, ROSE EAGLE, IS CAPTAIN

By JOE MOONEY

Tomorrow's game between Boston College and Villanova will be something of an Old Home Week celebration for several Massachusetts young gentlemen who are participating in the Pennsylvania Institute.

When Harry Stuhldreder's cohorts rolled into Boston early today, many Greater Boston boys were among the 40 who climbed sleepily out of their berths at the Back Bay station.

Of these, four will answer the whistle around the Eagles. Two were once Boston College High graders. They will be in bad grace indeed, two ex-gladiators that flew away.

BEACON HILL

TWO OF THIS season's most charming debutantes will courtesy to society at a dinner-dance on Wednesday evening, November 16, within the hallowed walls of the exclusive Chilton Club...

Elmor Fay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Fay, one of Boston's old and honored families, will share the spotlight with Miss Constance Babcock, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Babcock of Concord...

Because it is a dinner and because it is an evening party, the affair is long and important... Harvard men are rumored to hate the taste of tea... and there has been rivers of it flowing this season.

Heads Usher Group
ROBESON BAILEY, who married Miss Elmor's sister, will head the usher squad, with Richard Watcott, Roger Wood, Charles Wood, Gordon Watcott, Parker Mearns, William Posey, Gregory Dunham, LeGrand Thurber, Mason Hammond, Richard Amory, Huntington Stone and Jack Kennard, assisting.

Miss Katherine Marsters of Morristown, N. J., who will be a houseguest of the Fays, and Miss Elizabeth Burke of Washington, D. C., who is staying with the Babcocks, will be among the young people attending. It will be a very small but very select party.

Miss Elizabeth Downer of Winchester is giving a dinner party at the Ritz-Carlton on Wednesday evening for Ellen O'Donnell, debutante daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Eugene E. O'Donnell of 274 Beacon st. Miss O'Donnell is one of the popular girls who MADE the Junior League and Vincent Club, we hear.

Among those who will attend the dinner and continue on to the theater afterward, will be Miss Margaret Richards, daughter of Premier C. D. Richards of New Brunswick, Miss Emily Conant, Miss Lillian Farnsworth and Miss Frances Poinier.

Miss Richards, who is now visiting friends in Boston, is to be the house guest of Capt. and Mrs. O'Donnell before she returns to her home in Frederick, N. B.

Lists Should Be Published.
DEAR LADY READER: The names of the debutantes who made the Junior League and Vincent Club are not to be published in the newspapers... personally, we do not know WHY NOT? Our opinion is that it should be published... it causes a good deal of error and misunderstanding, even embarrassment at times, and in no way helps the girl who does not make these two social organizations.

A debutante who elects to try and enter the race for this distinction each season should understand the rules of the game... and if she does not win, she should be a good loser.

The girls who by popularity, social distinction or expediency DO make the grade, should have the reward of their endeavors. There are several young girls who for many reasons SHOULD have been admitted to membership in the Junior League this season who did not receive the coveted invitation. This shows a lack of sense of real values on the part of the election committees. Daughters of men who are outstanding in their service to our community, who have a background of culture and refinement, who, in themselves, have integrity, charm and talent, should be the very types of young maidenhood desired by the League. Sailing a boat or having a "good line" are hardly the proper assets by which to measure a Junior League.

Miss Katherine Armstrong, of Shelbyville, Ky., dark-eyed fiancee of Russell Robb, will arrive today for a visit with his mother, Mrs. O'DONNELL. Russell Robb, of Concord and friends thereabouts. There will be a dinner party in the young couple's honor this evening by men friends of Mr. Robb's... on Sunday, Mrs. Robb will invite relatives and intimate friends in to meet her future daughter-in-law at her beautiful home on Monument st., Concord. There will be several other parties in the young lady's honor during her stay in the North.

Will Remain in Boston
MRS. FREEMAN HINCKLEY has been in New York recently... she is planning to stay in Boston this winter instead of going back to Chicago as her custom... the tabbies say it is because daughter, Margaret McCutcheon, was accepted at Miss Winsor's fashionable school for to Switzerland.

Speaking of Chicago... we hear that Mrs. Barrett Wendell, Jr., who slaved in a Windy City department store for a while on account of the depression, has decided that she feels more depressed there than back with her friends in the smart Lake Forest set... the long hours and the time clock decided her that she was not as poor as she had felt when she left them... She is doing secretarial work, we hear, for a prominent Chicagoan...

It is a very common sight to see a dog lying down with its head resting on the ground. This is a sign of submission and is often seen in dogs that are being punished or are feeling guilty. The dog is showing that it is acknowledging its mistake and is trying to make amends. This is a natural instinct for many animals and is a way of communicating their emotions. It is important to understand this behavior so that you can respond appropriately and help your dog feel better.

INTERESTING YARN

And then there was an Englishman who served as a pilot on the Hongkai river. He spoke English and Chinese and was a very good swimmer. One day, a young Englishman came to him and said, "I have a letter from my mother. It says that I am to marry a Chinese girl. I don't know who she is, but I want to see her. Can you help me?" The pilot said, "I can help you. I will take you to the house of the girl. But you must be careful. The girl is very beautiful, but she is also very cunning. She will try to seduce you. So you must be very careful. Do you understand?" The young man said, "Yes, I understand. I will be very careful. Thank you very much. I will go now." The pilot said, "Good. I will see you again. Goodbye."

"I don't like crazy," he said. "I wouldn't part with this for anything," and he meant it, too.

Mrs. Galloway was so glad to find him sane that she told her friends about it. They were all surprised at his sanity. "He's got to be a little bit crazy," they said. "You can't get any sense out of him."

The author in tomorrow's chapter tells about trying to teach a bird of paradise to talk.

THE TERRIBLE TRUTH
Mr. Bolton rose, shook his head and said, "I'll have French omelets every morning."
"What if you're lusted by your French omelets more than the French omelets other people make, then—that's like me!"
"No, that's just it. I am no more like that Julia than—that Ben Hur. I'm sure I'd like to be Mr. Bolton, you may as well know that I never cooked a dish."

I'll have you doing marinade pig in a week! What? You'll still have to be content to do things." Answer me! Wasn't I told—"

"Oh, what was the use? What was the use of that? Besides it's all over, now."

"Come now. Everything is arranged. Your auntie is coming."

"The phone is in the hall," Aunt Julia said.

When he had gone to telephone the police, "I was told I should say, 'Aid.' You do the right thing, and it is done to you. Your brother comes back on the waters. We shall Mrs. C. try come home to see you, with her new husband, a good-looking, good-looking man, a better brother!"

"I'm sorry, Mr Bolton. I haven't anything to say to Joe, and Joe hasn't anything to say to me. He's all over—finished."

"Well, you talk to Joe. Tell him that."

Government Should Start 'Share-Work' Movement

Government throughout the United States—federal, state, county, and municipal—can reduce unemployment immediately by the power of its own example, if it will require all contracts for public works to be let either on the basis of a six-hour day or a five-day week.

All contracts to be let under public works programs yet to be authorized should include some such "share-the-work" clause, and it should be added to all public works programs already begun.

And the power of the government's example in nationalizing this "share-the-work" movement will mobilize public sentiment in support of an irresistible popular demand that private enterprise shall contribute toward the reduction of unemployment by utilizing wherever feasible the five-day week or six-hour day schedule for the period of the emergency.

Representative spokesmen of capital and labor are strong supporters of the "share-the-work" movement as a practical measure for the relief of the unemployed.

Among twenty-eight eminent economists who have recently endorsed the adoption of either the five-day week or the six-hour day as an emergency relief measure are Dr. Thomas S. Adams of Yale University, Dean Wallace E. Donham of the Graduate School of Business Administration, Harvard University, Dr. Richard T. Ely, president of the Institute for Economic Research, Prof. E. R. A. Seligman of Columbia University, and Prof. F. W. Taussig of Harvard University.

These notable authorities point out that the individual employee, as an effect of his or her sharing, would enjoy greater job security. And the individual employer might expect to get cost reduction in taxes as well as some reduction in charitable contributions to needy families of the unemployed.

Millions of men and women now unemployed would benefit greatly by the spread of employment which would inevitably follow from the nation-wide adoption by government and private enterprise alike of "share-the-work" schedules.

And William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, spoke for these unemployed millions when he said the other day:

"If employers of labor will give the 'share-the-work' movement their full and complete support, increasing employment, creating work opportunities for idle people, great improvement will be noticeable within a very short time in the industrial and economic situation."

"In like manner, laboring people can well afford to cooperate and work with the committees formed for the purpose of furthering the share-the-work movement. Through such cooperation and support, they can extend substantial aid to more than 11,000,000 idle workers and those dependent upon them."

Election of Roosevelt and Garner and a new Congress Democratic in both houses on November 8 is the next step toward reducing unemployment by sharing employment because they are resolved and prepared to fulfill that plank in the Democratic platform of 1932 which pledges all its candidates to "THE SPREAD OF EMPLOYMENT BY A SUBSTANTIAL REDUCTION IN THE HOURS OF LABOR AND THE ENCOURAGEMENT OF THE SHORTER WEEK BY APPLYING THE PRINCIPLE IN GOVERNMENT SERVICE."

John E. Swift

He Will Be Able Aide for Governor Ely

The people of Massachusetts should have no hesitation in electing John E. Swift their Lieutenant-Governor. They should be glad, and they should be confident, that a man of Mr. Swift's talents and integrity and capability is a candidate for that office.

Mr. Swift is a familiar figure in the civic life of this Commonwealth. He has been the Democratic nominee for Attorney-General. He absorbed his progressive and humane political philosophy from Senator David I. Walsh, whose friend and associate he has been. He has been the head of a great fraternal society engaged in promoting good citizenship and unostentatious charity. He will be an able aide to Governor Ely, who will be re-elected by a great plurality, if the people revere good service as they should.

Should the people of Massachusetts have any hesitation in voting for Gaspar Bacon, who is Mr. Swift's opponent?

They should have the utmost hesitation. Mr. Bacon, by his repeated opposition to legislation which was calculated to improve the conditions of the laborer, in all and sundry, in his sweatshop as well, shows that he does not have the humane disposition or just concern for those among our people to whom the utmost consideration is due.

Pretzel Production

Reports from the Keystone State are that in 1931 it ate up $4,000,000 worth of pretzels. Since you can buy them at retail—if you are a gastric athlete—at two for a nickel, the pretzel foundries along the Monongahela must have cast, tempered, shellacked and salted no fewer than 90 million pairs of this durable article.

The output was valued at more than twice the value of the iron ore dug up in Pennsylvania that year. This quite definitely takes the pretzel out of the comic class and entitles it to the respect of what used to be called Big Business.

What we should like to know is what the Pennsylvanians drank with this savory and thirst-promoting hardtack. Pretzels with tea or coffee destroy nobility of character, and dry up humane sentiments. Pretzels with milk or orangeade are unthinkable. No instance has been recorded of a human being washing down a pretzel with water.

Surpicion rises that the 180 million pretzels must have been sluiced down with beer. Pennsylvania, somehow, must have found a satisfactory method of getting around the Eighteenth Amendment if, indeed, it has ever heard of it.

On Their Way!

Seventeen States have ratified the Twentieth Amendment to the Federal Constitution, to abolish "Lame Duck" sessions of Congress.

Massachusetts votes on the amendment, Referendum No. 3 on the ballot, next Tuesday, and doubtless will join the parade of states aligned against the "Lame Ducks."

In January the Legislatures of some thirty odd States will be in session. Ratifications by nineteen of them will make the Twentieth Amendment operative.

SHOO!
SHOO!

So it appears not improbable that the coming short session of the existing Congress, which convenes in December, will be historic—it may be the last "Lame Duck" session ever held.

In any event, the "Lame Ducks" are on their way out. Their sessions were doomed when Congress finally adopted the amendment resolution last March.

Now it is only a question of how quickly the States fall into line.

Doesn't Scare a Bit!

Little Miss Muffet was sitting sedately
Inhaling a vitamin lunch.
It seems the fair maid had been dieting lately
And thus had developed a punch.
And in walked a Spider, a fresh little geezer,
Intent upon starting a jam.
She gave him a ladylike biff on the beazer
And calmly advised him to scam.

Time was when Miss Muffet was nervous and skeery
Whenever election drew near.
Political tales were so frightful and eerie
They filled her with spasms of fear.
But now she is off the Republican diet
And growing as strong as a hoos,
And so the poor Spider, intent on a riot,
Is playfully thrown for a loss.

Thoughts While Strolling

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Thoughts while strolling: What's become of gum-drops fish on a rubber string? J. P. McEvoy's Boil' Mich' wide hat and flowing tie. Peggy Fears' cyclonic saffron-streaked codfish. And Johnny Gruelle who dowses Yap Center cartoons with sign ball-hoofing friends. Arthur Levy's omniscient carnation.

One-word description of Elizabeth Cobb Brody-chipper. Mayor McKee not only caught the ball but made a touchdown. Yet what good did it do in this Tammany-shredded town? Sam Shipman's a shrunken Edward G. Robinson. I miss Willa Cather and Edith Wharton. On Broadway, graft is "smart money." Similar. As studied as the posing of an Algonquin locust. Whom have they knocked off recently, by the way. Doesn't Mulrooney know

Central Park is dangerously unsafe for lone women? Stark Young's a Como, Miss, who made good in the city. Deems Taylor's tall forehead. Something in it, too. That suave ex-prince who takes orders for monogrammed cigarettes from penthouse to penthouse. An interesting yarn the Londoner told at breakfast. He says Kipling has not paid for groceries and meats for years. He gives tremendous five-pound personal notes.

They, in turn, sell them to autograph hunters. What a break I'd get trying that! One of mine sold at an low fair for eight cents. I can never think of anybody famous from Maine. Except, of course, Rudy what-his-name. Lee Shubert now goes everywhere with S. J. Kaufman's brother, Harry. What a superbly grand actress Frieda Inescort is! No more dinner parties. They always park in those too hefty matrons in black velvet, who get tight. John Golden ships town when he has an opening. Supersaturation. A swell guy with a swell name—Rex Cole. O, yes, is moose the plural of moose, or what?

On Amsterdam avenue today I saw a sign name: Lucas Lowi Locas. And now I'm all jittered up again after just getting over a sleepless night repeating the savory inflexions of that sign in London. Philocean Perfect Pies.

Following Europe, one notices a sharp decline in sauntering. From the Bronx to the Battery one cannot flush out a mere stroller of the streets. Always the maddening pallo-eyes straight ahead. For the hurrying Manhattan there is no around-the-corner lure. I break fasted with a successful New Yorker the other day who never noticed that directly opposite his bedroom was a frame house with a side-yard.

ciern—doilies unused but well there. A clatters in New York! What a theme for a sugared sonnet!

And in the flood of Broadway complaints annotating that street's phenomena, not one has batted that splendid placard for Treadwell worldlings hanging over a small cutler shop in West 47th street. It reads: "Knives Expertly Sharpened for Whittling."

Col. J. Sherman Porter, who is trying to live down launching me as a newspaper reporter, sends the first ever white at 16 in the list of "Gallies Notes." Under a caption, "Gallies Notes," it runs: "Mr. Ed Magus has gone to Charleston, W. Va. to do some important hanging for a large wall paper house."

NOW THAT we are entering upon the very last lap of the campaign, the sadly bedraggled and wholly discredited Hoover Administration is openly resorting to the most desperate devices of intimidation, that skirt the edge of the Corrupt Practices Act, if they do not cross it. It is difficult for these purse-proud people to understand that they are not dealing with Chinese coolies when they deal with American working men.

Henry Ford, who did not register, was shameless enough to make the first open move in this direction.

Predicted now upon his action, others are following in his wake. I have just seen the letter sent out by the president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, with a view to the intimidation of the railroad workers. These workers are to receive "advice" from the managers of the railroad—which is intended as a warning.

This is very interesting, coming from this railroad. It has received $50,000,000 of our money from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. This is not being used to put discharged employees back to work, and the railroad workers' plea that the corporation is not using the vast sum he requested not further to reduce wages is ignored by Mr. Hoover.

But the president of the road, with an arrogance which is out of place today, assumes the right to dictate the vote of men whose manhood and citizenship he did not buy with the reduced wages now being paid them.

Another Threatening Letter
I have just seen another letter from a coal operator in Indiana to other operators in that section, setting forth the plan to put in the pay envelope of the comparatively few miners so fortunate as to have jobs part of the time a letter which comes so near being a positive threat that I am sure it constitutes a criminal offense. This letter urges that these threats be put in the pay envelopes the Saturday evening before the election. The writer explains that at this time the threat may be most effective.

But we may be sure there is another reason for delaying the threat until the last minute. It evidently was hoped, thereby, to prevent the exposure of this near criminal conspiracy before the polls open.

We Salute Mr. Stevens
Happily, there are among manufacturers and operators men who have had enough of the Hoover brand of prosperity and business administration and retain in their veins enough red, patriotic blood to despise this cowardly attempt to take advantage of the necessities of the workers. From one of these we received copies of these letters—that of the operator and that of Mr. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania road.

Apropos of these dastardly attempts at coercion, it is gratifying to find an outstanding manufacturer in Detroit, within the shadow of Henry Ford's mills, who knows

As the campaign draws to a close, with Mr. Hoover's administration, the strategy is becoming more and more absurd. Could any more stupid and more grotesque than the comedy skit of the Hoover cabinet, standing up to their heels in the wreckage and ruin of the Hoover panic, and solemnly warning the people that the election of Roosevelt may bring a depression? When leaders in a hysteria of advice, they are unfit to lead or advise.

Equally ridiculous is the attempt to convince the liberals of the country that the only way to open the breweries and put men to work, and to lighten the burden of taxation on business men with a tax on beer, is to continue in power the man who thinks national prohibition a "noble experiment," who played fast and loose with the liberals in 1928, who made a mockery of the Wickersham report and interpreted it as meaning that we must hold on to prohibition while holding on to Hoover; who personally directed the fight in his convention to kill an honest, unequivocal declaration for abstention of the 18th Amendment, and who never by word or hint has indicated anything other than his bitter hostility to the modification of the Volstead Act to make beer possible.

Mr. Roosevelt's party stands fourscore for such modification. Mr. Roosevelt personally has declared unequivocally for the immediate modification of the Volstead Act after his inauguration.

His convention declared for this policy by an overwhelming majority of votes coming from every section of the country.

And Mr. Hoover is absolutely against it. That is the reason all the leaders of the prohibition forces are out every fighting for Mr. Hoover's election.

Noises Like Those of a Mad House
Use the blackback on your employees! Treat 'em rough—as in the celebrated battle of Anacostia. Warn the people that the election of Roosevelt will wreck the "Hoover prosperity."

And convince the liberals that Bishop Cannon and his cronies fighting for Hoover for the purpose of getting beer back with a tax upon it.

Thus the campaign is drawing to a close with noises like those of a mad house.
